CRICKET.

Some very interesting matches were played on Saturday in spite of the fact that the weather was uncertain and showery. The light was not good during the afternoon and towards the close of play many of the matches were finished in the twilight. It was, however, a batsman's wicket and in one or two cases some very good scoring was recorded. This was notably the case in the match of the C.S.C.C. against the R.G.A., where in an innings of 205, G. R. Sayer scored 171 not out. He gave no chances with the exception of one very hard catch behind the wicket when the score stood at 50.

On the Club ground the H.K.C.C. beat the Navy by three wickets, Pearce and Mitchell being mainly responsible for the victory. Craigiepower were unfortunate in only being able to force a draw in their League fixture with the I.R.C. When stumps were drawn they required 9 to win with three wickets to fall.

1ST LEAGUE.

H.K.C.C. v. R. NAVY.

This league fixture played on the Club ground provided the spectators with some interesting batting, and some smart fielding. The visitors decided to bat first and in two hours and a quarter knocked up a score of 175, all out. The batting of Lieut. Stewart, Lieut. Commander Greig and the Rev. Crole-Rees was bright. The last named player's innings of 38 included seven boundaries.

Requiring 178 to win the H.K.C.C. commenced batting at 4 p.m. and although the light was failing quickly they proved equal to the occasion, and in the course of one hour and three quarters secured a three wicket victory. For the home side the partnership of Pearce and Mitchell was the most noteworthy performance of the match and it was mainly due to their efforts that the victory was secured. Pearce, in his usual good form, scored a six and 8 fours, whilst Mitchell had 39 runs registered to his credit. With the partnership dissolved a tail developed, the remaining 5 wickets falling for 44 runs.

Lieut. Beatty and Mid. Hayter bowled well for the visitors and took all seven wickets between them. For the home side there is nothing exceptional to record in this connection excepting that Farthing took the last two wickets with consecutive balls. The fielding on both sides was good.

Appended are the scores:

CIVIL SERVICE C.C. v. R.G.A.

G. R. Sayer's wonderful innings.

A record batting score for the season was set up on Saturday, at Happy Valley by the well known local cricketer, Mr. G. R. Sayer, in a first league match between the R.G.A. and the Civil Service C.C. Batting against one of the swiftest bowlers in the Colony—Capt. Davies, Sayer scored 171 not out of a declared innings of 204 runs for nine wickets. The extraordinary point about the innings was that the remaining eight batsmen made only 25 runs between them, not including extras, which were 2. During his stay at the wicket Sayer gave one chance; only and that one—behind the wicket—was an extremely difficult catch. In his innings this batsman placed boundaries and in three overs, not consecutive, he made 70 runs. When the game stood at 59 Sayer had scored 63, when the total reached 118 he had made 100.

For the R.G.A. Capt. Oliver and Capt. Davies batted strongly and their partnership brought the score up to 84. There were prospects of the R.G.A. finishing victors as they scored 174 for 5 wickets. The match, however, ended in a draw.

I.R.C. v. C.C.C.

Craigiepower C.C. had hard luck in not recording a win in their league fixture with the Indians, at Happy Valley, on Saturday. They had to be content with a draw, though when stumps were drawn they required 7 runs to win with three wickets to fall. For the visitors the batting of A. H. Rumjahn and H. Abbaku was the only thing of note. Abbaku's 25 included 5 boundaries. For Craigiepower R. Bassa's 45 was consistent. His effort was a slow but sure one, which gave no chances. His fielding on both sides was safe, especially on the boundary line. The bowling of both teams represented a fair average.

SECOND LEAGUE MATCHES.

C.S.C.C. 2nd XI. v. POLICE R.C. 2nd XI.

For this match played at Happy Valley (P.R.C. ground) on Saturday, both teams turned out one man short. The wicket was good though the police batting was weak. The visitors declared at 130 for 7 wickets and the Police made 60 for 9 wickets. Cowan's batting for the C.S.C.C. was bright, his 42 not out being the best score of the match. The Police, still relying on their veterans, Grimmett, Kelly, Alexander and King, could not get going and put up a poor display. The bowling of Taylor for the Civil Service was a strong point. His average was 6 wickets for 25 runs. Appended are the scores:—

WILTS. v. POLICE

The Police missed the services of J. Clark in the defence in this match and went down by 5 clear goals. The teams turned out as follows:—

Wiltshire:—Turner; Trivett and Moore; Lancaster, Westall and Penfold; Warren, Evans, Menham, Swanborough and Amor.

Police:—Swan; Robertson and McWalters; Watts, Forbes and D. Clark; Cargill, Watson, Pearson, Valentine and Miller.

Referee: Mr. Moore.

Menham kicked off for the Wilts who took up the attack but a mighty kick from Robertson relieved. Wilts returned and Amor handled. The Police got away and Moore was stopped for fouling. The Wilts returned to the attack and McWalters cleared at the expense of a pommer.

From the goal kick, Forbes sent in Pearson who had the misfortune to handle when about to shoot from close range. Menham received from the free kick, and taking the ball down sent out to Warren, when tackled, and the Wilts right winger sent in a long shot that Swan misjudged, and the ball landed into the net. From the re-start the Police worked the ball down and following a neat pass Cargill sent in wide from the right. Menham soon put his side further ahead, for Swan took a free and the ball rested safely in the net. Trivett cleared a rush from the centre kick and sent away Warren who centred and Swanborough shot the ball over the bar.

Midfield play followed from which Menham got the ball away and passing to Swanborough this player bent Swan with a ground shot. Moore and Trivett, playing a sound defensive game, kept the Police out, and Menham scored number 4 with a splendid shot. While facing his own goal he received a long pass, trapping the ball and, turning quickly, left Swan helpless with the ball in the net. This shot would have brought downfall to any goalkeeper. Wilts took up the attack, and Swan cleared at the expense of a corner. Half-time against Menham relieved the pressure just as the whistle sounded for half time with the Wilts leading by 4 goals to nil.

Valentine went out on the wing on resuming, but the Police forwards could make little headway. Watson when well placed, sent over the bar. Moore mis-kicked and gave the Police their best chance of the afternoon, but their forwards were not up and Trivett cleared. Menham headed a pass from Warren on to the cross bar, the ball rebounding to play and Menham returned over the bar. The play was fast and each side visited their opponents' goal. Menham broke away from the centre and running through scored number 5 for the Wilts.

From a free kick Watts sent out to Valentine, but he delayed his centre and Trivett cleared. Pearson just missed and time arrived shortly after with the Wilts winners by 5 goals to nil. Resuming, the sailors had most of the play and Crocker saved well in goal. During the pressure one of the Kowloon defenders handled and Matthews taking the kick sent straight to Crocker who cleared. Kowloon now took up the attack and following good combination Townsend sent the ball past Eve and Kowloon were two up.

From the kick off the sailors resumed the attack but could not score and time arrived with Kowloon unexpected winners by 2 goals to nil.

Mr. Hollands was the referee.

"CAIRO" v. KOWLOON.

Stevenson turned out for the Cairo on the Navy "A" ground and Matthews resumed his position at centre half. Wayman started at back for Kowloon but changed with Pascoe later. Coombes opened the score for Kowloon who led at the interval by one goal to nil. Resuming, the sailors had most of the play and Crocker saved well in goal. During the pressure one of the Kowloon defenders handled and Matthews taking the kick sent straight to Crocker who cleared. Kowloon now took up the attack and following good combination Townsend sent the ball past Eve and Kowloon were two up.

From the kick off the sailors resumed the attack but could not score and time arrived with Kowloon unexpected winners by 2 goals to nil.

Mr. Hollands was the referee.

"TITANIA" v. SOUTH CHINA.

On the South China ground these teams played a drawn game. The sailors had a strong side out and were unlikely not to win. The goal was scored from a penalty. Bures scored for the sailors and Chen So for the Chinese from a penalty awarded through Knighting handling in the area. The game was fast throughout, but towards the close the exchanges between a couple of players took the rough side.

Mr. Jones was the referee and kept the players well under control.

"CURLEW" RES. v. SOUTH CHINA "B."

The Curlew proved too good for the Chinese who went down by 7 goals to 1. Poole (3), Roberts (2), Hender (3) for the sailors and Kum Fook, for the Chinese, scored the goals.

CLUB RES. v. R.G.A. RES.

Playing at Sookunpo, the Club Reserves almost secured their first win, for at half time they were leading by one goal to nil. The shot that the soldiers equalized with should have been cleared, for Angus stopped the shot, but allowed the ball to pass between his legs into the goal. Banner for the Club and Best for the R.G.A. scored the goals.

UNITED v. PUNJABIS.

The United romped home by seven goals to nil in this match scoring 4 goals in the first and 3 in the second half. Valentine (2), Simmons (2), Brown and May scored the goals.

KOWLOON RES. v. SOUTH CHINA "A."

On the Kowloon ground, Happy Valley, the Kowloon Reserves were assisted by R.E. players, while Mason played at back. The game ended in a goalless draw.

ROYAL HONGKONG YACHT CLUB.

SOCIETY OF ST. VINCENT-DE PAUL.

GREAT SUCCESS OF THE ANNUAL FETE.

For nearly half as long as the Colony has in existence the Society of St. Vincent de Paul has held an annual fête to raise charitable funds and the affair took place yesterday in the compound of the Roman Catholic Cathedral, attracting, as usual, an enormous number of people. H.E. the Governor and Lady Stubbs lent their patronage. Owing to building operations, begun since the last fête, the space available was not so great as last year but the Catholic Union Club kindly lent their ground and so made good some of the deficiency, otherwise, so great was the attendance, many would have been turned away. Apart from such attractions as the chance of a new seven-seater motor car in a raffle for the price of three dollars, shooting gallery, bran tub, roulette board and so on, the leading feature of the bazaar was a splendid display of toys. With Christmas so close at hand there was a great demand for these. There was an enormous range of toys, from expensive ones to quite cheap articles, and the quantity was large enough to replenish a huge stall again and again. Rarely, if ever, has such a large collection been seen in Hongkong. Seeing that the Convents have such a reputation for needlework in all its branches, ladies who visited the bazaar expressed surprise that a fancy work stall was not included.

All the afternoon's business was very brisk but the bazaar did not reach its zenith until the evening when, with fairy lamps and Chinese lanterns alight, it presented a very pretty spectacle. The numbers of visitors then increased very much and all was bustle and gaiety. The decorations were carried out under the supervision of Mr. Pinches and Mr. McCrohan, of H.M.S. Tamar, and Mr. Max a dos Remedios and Mr. M. F. Baptista planned the stalls at which hosts of willing workers were busy all the afternoon and evening.

The Band of the Wilts. Regt. rendered selections from a point of vantage in the Cathedral porch and contributed very much to the pleasure of visitors. A list of all those who helped towards the success of the fête is given below:—

special mention should be made of the hon. secretary, Mr. Fitz-Gibbon, whose organising ability smoothed the labours of all concerned.

His Excellency the Governor, accompanied by Mr. Eric Rice, arrived at 9.30 p.m. and was received at the entrance by Mr. F. H. Barnes, President of the Hongkong Council, and Mr. W. G. Fitz-Gibbon, Chairman of the Bazaar Committee, Mr. G. P. de Martin, M.B.E., Mr. J. P. Braga, J.P., Mr. A. Barton, Mr. Choa P. Sien, Major C. Law, Mr. H. C. Macnamara, Mr. J. S. McCann, Mr. E. V. M. R. de Sousa, and Mr. Simon Tse Yan, members of the Bazaar Committee. The Guard of Honour was composed of a detachment of St. Joseph's College Troop of Boy Scouts.

RUGBY.

NAVY v. CLUB.

The Club opposed a strong Navy side on their own ground and in the first half they showed up to advantage. V. G. Smyth picking up well from the scrums and showing good speed. Half-time no score. Early in the second half the Club pack began to feel the pace and the hard work they put in during the first half told against them. The Navy XV took charge of the game and Reeves topped own to the left of the goal. The place kick failed. From the centre kick the Navy again got down and Reeves repeated his previous performance. Almost on time Gilbert ran over, and, taking the place kick, sent the ball between the posts as the whistle sounded for time, the Navy XV winning by 11 points to 0. The Navy XV were selected from H.M.S. Cyden and Tilda.

CHINA'S MOST REMARKABLE RAILWAY.

This autumn has seen the completion of a railway project in North China which is noteworthy for several things. We refer to the line which links the old Manchuria citadel of Suiyuan with Peking. Though it has taken twenty years to complete, it is not a great railway so far as actual length of trunk line is concerned, being only 1,218 ft., or about 400 English miles. That it has taken so long to construct is due very largely to the fact that the line has involved more mountain construction than any other line thus far built in China. Many foreign travellers are familiar with the famous Nankow Pass to Kalgan; from Kalgan to Suiyuan the line proceeds via Pingtiuchuan. The elevation at Kalgan is 2,456 feet; at Shiptabi, where the ascent is to the plateau is made, the elevation is 5,181 feet; and at the terminus it is 3,435 feet above sea level. What gives this line a special claim to distinction, apart from the engineering difficulties of the project, is the fact that it has been built entirely by Chinese engineers, with Chinese capital. "Not a single dollar of foreign capital has been used for this railway, nor has a single foreigner been employed on the railway staff," said the Minister of Communications exultingly at the celebration of the completion of the line. Well might it be said that this is an achievement of which China may be justly proud.

The line has been built partly on the earnings of the Peking-Mukden railway, and by means of domestic loans. Now a further extension of the line to Paotow has been commenced, and it is expected that the present line, which is earning fair interest on capital invested, will be able to finance the extension. The gross receipts of the Peking-Suiyuan line last year were $2,182,168 in excess of the operating expenditure. Paotowchen is situated on the upper Yellow River and is a central market for the products of Mongolia, Kiangsu and Sinkiang. "We wish this railway," said the Minister of Communications, in turning the first sod of the extension, "to be not merely a carrier of goods, but a carrier of civilization and a means to unite more closely the people of Mongolia and the North-West with those of other parts of the Republic. Owing to the distance and the lack of means of communication, the people of certain parts of Mongolia and the North-Western provinces have hitherto not enjoyed the same degree of civilization and not evinced the same interest in the affairs of the country as ourselves. We hope the railway will remedy this."

We could wish that the same enterprise and determination in the matter of railway construction had been shown further South during the past ten years or so. Though the people of the South are nowadays no less alive than are the people of the North to the great advantages of railway communications, enterprise has been less in evidence in the Southern provinces, doubtless owing to the constantly-recurring political disturbances, which has made the investment of capital unsafe. For this reason the grand trunk line between Canton and Hankow, which it was predicted, when it was started, would be completed in five years, seems likely to take twenty-five years. Let us hope that, in the words of the Prime Minister, China will advance "in the light of the honour and glory gained by the construction of the Peking-Suiyuan line." It is a great step towards progress to have it recognised that "the civilization of a country depends upon its economic wealth, which in turn depends upon its transport facilities." When it is mentioned that the vast territories of China contain only 5,000 miles of railway, and we contrast this with the 7,000 miles of railway possessed by China's little neighbour Japan, which has an area equal to but a single province of China, we get an idea of the enormous field for railway development which China represents.

TRAM LINE OBSTRUCTIONS. WARNING TO YOUTHS.

The hearing was continued on Saturday morning before Mr. Lindsell at the Magistracy of the case, in which Emanuel Henry, a South African chauffeur employed by the Eastern Garage, was charged with wilfully placing an electric battery on the tram lines in Arsenal Street.

The case had been adjourned from Wednesday last to enable the defendant to procure witnesses for the defence. Mr. Hammond at Wednesday's hearing gave evidence to the effect that the defendant deliberately placed an obstruction on the line in the shape of a discarded motor car lamp battery.

The defendant's employer giving evidence, on Saturday, on behalf of the youth, said that on the evening of November 22nd, he was sitting in the garage when he saw the defendant playing with several children. Defendant kicked a piece of battery lying on the road, and it went into the groove of one of the tram lines. Defendant was trying to remove it with his foot when he was grabbed by Mr. Hammond, the Traffic Inspector for the Tramway Company.

Another chauffeur said that when the battery fell on the tram line, the defendant walked across the road to remove it. He had reached the first rail on the garage side of the road when Mr. Hammond arrived.

Mr. M. H. Turner, for the prosecution, pointed out the discrepancy in the evidence of the witnesses and submitted that Mr. Hammond would not come to Court and say things he had not actually seen.

The defendant appeared to Mr. Hammond to be pressing the battery into the rail with his foot. When the defendant returned to the garage, Mr. Hammond himself removed the battery and then remonstrated with the defendant.

Mr. Lindsell said it was clear that the piece of battery was kicked on to the tram line and that the defendant used his foot in kicking it into the groove of the line.

In reply to the Magistrate Mr. Turner said that the placing of the obstruction was a prank on the part of defendant. It appeared to be an amusing pastime with the youths.

A fine of $5 was imposed.

WASHINGTON CONFERENCE. BRITISH DELEGATION WORKING IN PERFECT HARMONY.

WASHINGTON, December 2nd.

The Dominion members are actively co-operating with the British delegation. Mr. Balfour is especially gratified with the perfect harmony in which the whole delegation is working. No decision is reached without common consultation on every question.

M. BRIAND HOPES FOR TANGIBLE RESULTS.

PARIS, December 3rd.

M. Briand, interviewed, declared that tangible results could be expected from the Washington Conference which was not limited to abstract resolutions. He denied the accusations brought against France by interested propaganda. France did not desire the military hegemony to which Germany aspired. Referring to Lord Curzon's speech he declared that he was always ready to enter into friendly conversations with Britain, but he saw no occasion for the early summoning of the Supreme Council which might be necessary if Germany sought a new reparations plan. He thought this was unlikely to occur during the Washington Conference.

The Chinese explained that they did not desire it to be inferred that, because they entered the conference, China receded from her attitude with reference to the disputed territories. With reference to the lease of Kiaochow the Japanese explained the view of control of the Tsingtao railway on the basis of the Japanese Note of September 7th.

THE NAVAL HOLIDAY.

WASHINGTON, December 3rd.

The impression is growing in American navy circles that it may prove expedient to modify Mr. Hughes' ten years naval holiday scheme sufficiently to permit of the construction of building capital ships during the holiday upon a very restricted basis. Evidently the Americans share the view of the British and Japanese delegates that such a modification is necessary.

LATER.

A NEW STAGE IN THE NEGOTIATIONS.

It is understood that a new stage in the negotiations regarding the naval ratio, described as very formidable, has been reached by the Conference between the British, United States and Japanese delegates. An official statement says: "Mr. Balfour, Baron Kato and Mr. Hughes had an extended interview respecting the naval proposals. No comment upon the interview can be made at present." Immediately afterwards the Japanese began to communicate with Tokyo.

THE SHANTUNG QUESTION.

WASHINGTON, December 3rd.

The Sino-Japanese delegates discussed the Shantung question, entering into the heart of the controversy. Each side reasserted its position taken up in the last four Sino-Japanese Notes, particularly with reference to the Tsingtao-Tsinan-fu Railway.

BARON KATO'S SENTIMENTS.

A communiqué states: The first meeting of the Sino-Japanese delegates was held yesterday. Responding to opening remarks of Mr. Hughes and Mr. Balfour, who expressed gratification at the Sino-Japanese acceptance of their good offices and the desire to extend friendly intervention with a view to securing a fair and satisfactory arrangement of the Shantung Question, Baron Kato replied, expressing his gratification at meeting the Chinese representatives. "I cannot let this occasion pass without expressing my appreciation of the offices of Mr. Hughes and Mr. Balfour. Japan is eagerly looking forward to an early settlement of this protracted controversy. It is the desire of the Japanese people to eliminate all cause of misunderstanding between China and Japan in order that these neighbouring nations may live in the future in perfect harmony. He had no doubt that the same sentiment was fully shared by the Chinese.

"THE REAL ISSUES."

The Japanese not unkindly of the difficulties with which the Chinese Government was confronted in entering into direct negotiations on this subject. The Japanese are confident that if it is approached from a broader perspective the question should be susceptible of a speedy solution. The vital interests of the two nations are in no way conflicting and it is unfortunate that the real issues are very largely misunderstood by the public. The term "Shantung Question" was itself a misnomer. The question does not relate to the whole province; the important points now awaiting adjustment adjustment relate only to the manner of restoring to China territory less than half of one per cent. of the province, also the disposition of the railway 280 miles long, and its appurtenant mines, formerly under the exclusive management of Germany.

DR. WELLINGTON KOO'S STATEMENT.

WASHINGTON, December 4th.

A communiqué states: Dr. Wellington Koo explained the history of the leased territories, concluding that both Britain and France based their claims to leases on the ground of the necessity for preserving the balance of power in the Far East. Conditions had entirely altered in the last twenty years. With the elimination of the German menace a particularly important and disturbing factor had been removed. Russia had also disappeared. Similarly, the misrule of the Manchurian dynasty had disappeared. The very fact that a Conference was being held at Washington for arriving at a mutual understanding indicated an added reason for dispensing with the necessity for maintaining the balance of power which was the principal ground of the Powers' original claims. Therefore, the Chinese delegation believed that the time had come for the Powers to relinquish control of the leased territory.

Dr. Koo added that the existence of such leased territories greatly prejudiced China's territorial administration and integrity because they were all situated upon strategic leaseholds. They also hampered the work of national defence by constituting in China a virtual imperium in imperio. Furthermore the shifting of the conflict of interests of different leaseholders had involved China more than once in complications, of which the Russo-Japanese war was caused by the Russian occupation of Port Arthur and Kiaochow brought the European war to the Far East. Some of these territories were utilised with a view to economic domination of vast adjoining regions as points d'appui for the development of spheres of interest to the detriment of the principle of equal opportunity for the commerce and industry of all nations. In the interest not only of China, but of all nations and especially for the peace of the Far East, the Chinese delegation asked for early annulment of the leases and urged meanwhile that the leaseholders undertake not to make use of the leases for any naval or military purposes.

The Chinese delegation were fully conscious of the obligations upon them after the termination of the leaseholds. China would be prepared to respect and safeguard the legitimately vested interests of the different Powers within those territories.

FRENCH AND JAPANESE ANNOUNCEMENTS.

M. Viviani announced that the French Government was prepared to renege its leaseholds. Mr. Hanabusa said Japan had not obtained leases from China directly, but, as the successor of other Powers at a sacrifice of men and treasure, it had succeeded Russia in the Kwangtung leasehold and had succeeded Germany in Kiaochow. Japan had already announced her willingness to give up the matter regarding which conversations were now proceeding. He added that Japan had no present intention of relinquishing the important rights she had lawfully acquired in Port Arthur which formed part of the region where, by close proximity to Japan, she had vital interests relating to her economic life and national safety. This fact was recognised and an assurance was given by the American, British and French Governments when the international consortium was formed that the vital interests of Japan in this region should be safeguarded. The interests established in Kwangtung were regarded as an essential part of Japanese economic life.

THE POSITION OF HONGKONG.

Mr. Balfour pointed out that the leaseholds were held under very different and very varying circumstances. Britain held two different kinds of leases which must stand on a different footing. It had been asked why it was considered necessary that the leased territory of Kowloon should come under the same administration as Hongkong, but that was because without leased territory Hongkong, perfectly indefensible, would be at the mercy of any enemy with modern artillery. The safeguarding of Hongkong was not merely in British interests, but was one in which the whole world was concerned as it was easily first among the world ports. Mr. Balfour proceeded to read extracts from the United States Government Commercial Handbook on China supporting his contention that the position of Hongkong in the world is unique and unparalleled. Hongkong was the financial centre of the East and it would be a great misfortune if anything occurred calculated to disturb the confidence of the nations using Hongkong. The Kowloon extension was in a different category and must be dealt with in a different spirit from leaseholds which acquired from totally different motives.

CONCERNING WEIHAWEI.

Mr. Balfour said WeihaWei was acquired during the general movement of obtaining leaseholds in which the British Government was moved by the desire of resisting the economic domination of China by other Powers. It was based on the desire for the maintenance of the balance of power with a view to the maintenance of the policy of the "Open Door," being intended to check predatory actions by Germany and Russia. He emphasised that the lease gave no economic rights or advantages to Britain.

CHINESE GREATLY PLEASED.

WASHINGTON, December 4th.

The French Delegation has informed the Far Eastern Committee of its readiness to associate in collective restitution of Chinese territorial leases provided that the details of restitution are regulated by agreement between the Chinese Government and each interested Government. It is reported that the Japanese have agreed to discuss the retirement of many of their territorial privileges in Manchuria. The Chinese are greatly pleased with the generous offers of all three Powers, especially Britain.

EARLIER CABLES.

LONDON, December 2nd.

The Morning Post's Washington correspondent was responsible for the report of the discovery of an oversight in the drafting of Mr. Hughes' naval holiday proposals. The correspondent says that the modifications necessary relate entirely to the naval holiday and do not affect the principle agreed upon in regard to capital ship tonnage.

THE DISCUSSION ON NAVAL RATIO.

WASHINGTON, December 2nd.

The Far Eastern Committee referred China's request for the withdrawal of troops to the drafting committee headed by Senator Root for further study. Probably the question will be continued at another meeting of the nine Powers committee to-morrow, when the question of special spheres of influence and leased territory may also be taken up. Shantung and the naval ratio continue to be the main issues of the Conference. While the expected conference of the Big Three on the ratio settlement could not actually be arranged yesterday, Baron Kato and Mr. Balfour had a long private discussion. All three later exhaustively examined the reports submitted by their respective naval experts.

It now seems likely that a settlement of both questions may be delayed owing to the departure of Mr. Balfour to-morrow for New York for two ceremonial dinners. He will not be returning before Tuesday night. Discussions are proceeding to-day.

POLAND AND LITHUANIA SORE.

REASSUMING AN UGLY APPEARANCE.

LONDON, December 4th.

The long-standing sore between Poland and Lithuania about the possession of Vilna is reassuming an ugly appearance. The Polish General Zeligowsky who seized Vilna long ago is now resigning but the change is merely nominal. The Poles are determined to hold an election for the Constituent Assembly beginning in January which the Lithuanians vehemently resent while the whole question of the disposal of Vilna is still under consideration by the League of Nations and the country is under military terrorism. Zeligowsky has issued a decree surrendering the supreme power over Central Lithuania to Meystowicz, an ex-member of the 1914 Duma and an ex-member of the Council of State, Petrograd.

GERMAN VESSELS FOR SALE.

LONDON, December 2nd.

Lord Inchcape's committee has disposed of 417 ex-enemy vessels during the past year, valued at nearly twenty million sterling. It now issues a novel list offering sixteen cargo vessels of 4,000 tons or upwards, still under repair in German yards, preparatory to receiving the highest class of Germanischer Lloyd.

FIRM NOTE TO GERMANY.

GRAVE CONSEQUENCES MAY RESULT.

PARIS, December 2nd.

The Reparations Commission has sent a firm Note to Germany on account of the non-reply to the question regarding the mode of payment of the next two indemnity instalments. The Reparations Commission's Note points out the grave consequences resulting for Germany from failure to effect the payments and urges the Government to influence Germans who are known to possess holdings abroad in order to obtain the necessary foreign securities. The commission is convinced that Germany's difficulties arising from the depreciation of the mark are due to financial rather than to economic causes. It points out that Germany's failure to balance the budget resulted in an increase of paper currency and it urges the Government to take without delay the necessary measures for placing the financial situation on a sound basis.

BRITAIN AND EGYPT. PAPERS RESPECTING THE RECENT NEGOTIATIONS.

LONDON, December 3rd.

The Anglo-Egyptian official papers respecting the negotiations of the Egyptian delegation confirm that the military question was mainly responsible for the failure to reach an agreement. The draft convention handed to Adly Pasha on Nov. 10th provides that Britain shall undertake to support Egypt in defence of her vital interests and the integrity of her territory. British forces shall have free passage through Egypt and shall be maintained in such places of Egypt and for such periods of time as are determined and shall have facilities for the acquisition of barracks, aerodromes, naval harbours, etc. The Egyptian reply presented on November 15th suggests that localisation of British forces in the region of the Canal would have been sufficient. It says that the British proposal constitutes occupation pure and simple and destroys every idea of independence.

The reply also objects to the stipulations governing the conduct of foreign affairs which provide for consultation with the British Government through the High Commissioner before entering any political agreements with foreign powers; likewise to the appointment of financial and judicial commissioners, etc. The High Commissioner, in a letter to the Sultan dated to-day, says the British Government is prepared to consider any methods for carrying out suggestions on the proposals. It cannot, however, modify the principle on which the proposals are based or relax the essential safeguards they contain.

COLLISION IN IRISH SEA.

SINN FEIN DELEGATES ON BOARD.

The Irish mail boat, with the Sinn Fein delegates, Mr. Collins and Mr. Duffy who were returning to Dublin bearing the latest Downing Street proposals for consideration by the Dail Eireann cabinet which met to-day, collided this morning with a schooner, which sank. Three of the latter's crew were drowned. The mail boat returned to Holyhead and the Sinn Fein delegates proceeded to Kingstown in another steamer.

IRISH NEGOTIATIONS. FINAL DRAFT OF THE CABINET PROPOSALS.

LONDON, December 2nd.

The Sinn Fein envoys are on the way to Dublin carrying the final draft of the Cabinet's proposals, which are understood to comprise probably Dominion status for the twenty-six counties in the south and west, Ulster to have the option to apply for inclusion in an All-Ireland Parliament later, allegiance on the lines of the Dominions within the Empire, a commission to be established to determine the political and religious frontiers of Tyrone and Fermanagh, with power to decide on a plebiscite. DARING ATTEMPT TO LIBERATE SINN FEINERS.

A daring attempt to rescue Sinn Fein political prisoners from Derry gaol by means of rope-ladders and motor-cars failed after a fierce conflict between the police, the prisoners, and the would-be rescuers. The constables were found dead, handcuffed, apparently having been chloroformed. Two warders and three civilians have been detained.

HIGH COST OF LIVING. CAUSES RIOTING IN VIENNA.

VIENNA, December 2nd.

Serious rioting is estimated to have caused several milliard crowns' damage, this being a sequel to a demonstration of thirty-five thousand workmen outside Parliament House against the cost of living. The demonstrators presented a series of drastic demands with a view to alleviating the conditions, after which they got out of hand and attacked nearly all the cafes in the inner city and main suburban streets, necessitating their closing up for a considerable period. A large number of shops were pillaged, and much havoc was wrought at leading hotels, including the Bristol, where the rioters penetrated to the guests' rooms and stole property. The victims included Sir William Goode, Chairman of the Austrian Reparations Committee, whose room was forced while he and his friends were within, nearly all their clothes and belongings being taken under their eyes. Four hundred arrests were made. The Social Democrat leaders warned their adherents to desist from further demonstrations, which they attribute to irresponsible elements.

PROBLEM OF THE WORKER.

SATAN ON THE THRONE.

At the Church Congress at Birmingham on October 12th, the morning session was devoted to a discussion of industrial problems. The Rights and Responsibilities of Property were dealt with by the Rev. Christopher Cheshire, warden of Liddon House, who vigorously attacked what he called the profoundly revolutionary character of the modern conception of property. To-day, he declared, property was regarded as a kind of permit to possess without working, and the grave misuses of property had led to the sins of greed and idleness. Lives that performed no toil and were therefore unproductive were a scandal to the whole community. Equality of opportunity was impossible under a system like ours, which distributed wealth with such gross injustice. All the meritorious citizens of London did not live in Mayfair, and a society in which this injustice existed would never be a happy one.

Mr. H. S. Slesser (standing counsel to the Labour party) contributed a paper on the same subject. The laity, he declared, lagged behind the clerics in their appreciation of the importance of a right ordering of property in the interests of religious life. Nearly the whole priesthood was beginning to recover a sacramental sense of the privileges of property, but large masses of comfortable Churchmen and women were still fearful of Labour, trade unionism, and the rising claims of the masses.

Papers followed on Capital, Labour, and Competition. The Rev. Charles E. Raven, editor of the Challenge, declared that the existing industrial system was built up under the influence of a wholly un-Christian philosophy of life. The competition system placed Satan on the throne of the universe; but it had failed to work, and was producing its own overthrow. Industry had become dehumanised, and, in order to meet the Federation of Employers, Labour had organised itself into vast unions in which the human being became a mere cypher. In the interests of collective bargaining, the cult of selfishness, and competition had given place, not to liberty, but to slavery. The substitution of soulless public companies and soulless trade unions, for the old relationship was a change for the worse. Thousands were looking for help and guidance to Christ and his Church. Were they to look in vain?

In another paper Mr. R. H. Tawne, a Fellow of Balliol, advocated the maximum possible degree of publicity as to costs, profits, and wages, so that industrial relations should not be poisoned by the hiding of facts. Provision for unemployment should be made "when trade was good, and not when it was bad. Instead of distributing large dividends three years ago firms should have been under a legal obligation to make provision for the early foreseen depression by setting aside part of their profits to be used in supporting workers discharged because of it."

Mr. H. E. Blain, assistant managing director, London-General Omnibus Co. Ltd., dealt with the matter from another point of view. He traced the history of the relations between Capital and Labour, and divided them into four epochs, namely, the patriarchal, family, or household system; the guild or handicraft system; the domestic system; and the fourth stage, but it was accentuated by the combination of masters, and even, industries in trusts and combines, and the combination of workpeople in trade unions. There was at present overwhelming and ghastly unemployment caused by trade depression. It was a profound disappointment that the very promising National Industrial Conference of 1919 did not culminate in a National Industrial Council, which would give a definite lead on industrial matters. We could not make progress with discussions conducted in different camps, and he suggested that a dozen men from Capital and a dozen from Labour should allow themselves to be metaphorically locked up like a jury until they had come to a recommendation for a solution of our present industrial problem. Such a conference would include amongst its subjects for settlement such questions as wages, hours, and conditions, arbitrative strikes and lock-outs, production, unemployment, organisation of labour, division of profits, Labour's share in the control of industry.

The concluding paper was read by Mr. John Ames, general secretary of the Industrial League and Council, who dealt with service in industry. The immediate future, he said, did not look very bright, but it would not be improved by each section ganging its own goat. If war could inspire such great sacrifice and service, surely the ideal of a nobler, freer, and fuller life could inspire great attainments to secure the peaceful development of commerce and industry. This could only be done by service by the union of those interested, and by spiritual influence, as opposed to the material, being developed in industry. The Industrial League and Council pointed the way through the Whitley Councils.

In the course of a general discussion the Rev. C. B. Magee referred to the appalling growth of modern Communism in Great Britain and urged the need of a crusade against the Communist Sunday schools, of which, he said, there were forty in London alone.

The Bishop of Exeter said many speakers had referred to the present condition of affairs as if it were the result of inadequate Government action. What we were troubled with was not that the Government had not enough power, but that it had too much. We were not merely Government-ridden by the British Government, but by foreign Governments. The reason why there were so many out of work in Birmingham was that they were being under-sold by the Germans, and this was because the German mark had depreciated. That was the result of Government action.

MEANING OF YPRES.

(BY SIR PHILIP GIBBS, K.C.B.)

A Ypres League has been founded in which all men of ours who served in the salient are associated as members of a brotherhood in arms, unforgetful of the dead comrades who lie there—200,000 of them—and mindful of their own service in the ordeal of battle, which for many was hardest there, and of the meaning which that names Ypres will have for ever in our history.

Large numbers of officers and men who served at Ypres have already enrolled themselves as members of the League, and have received their certificate of membership, finely designed and good to keep as a memorial of honour. The families of those who fell in the salient may have now this same document, with the service and sacrifice of their own men recorded upon it, so that their children may keep it in reverence and shall remember. In the city of Ypres itself, among the ruins there, will be kept a register of the dead, and plans are in progress to mark the sites of the great battles, to guide pilgrims to the most memorable places of historic fighting, to keep the League in friendly touch with the people who have come back to those fields, and if possible—in these hard times—to put up some visible memorial on behalf of the League. That may be a belfry whose chimneys, sounding across the Menin Road, below Passchendaele, beyond Hooge, will be a spiritual call to the hearts of those who know what happened here.

These plans and the idea of the League depend for great success upon the response of all those hundreds of thousands of men who now in civil life look back upon the old days in Flanders as the time of their supreme test, in which, by the grace of God and their own strength of soul, such as it was, they did not fail.

IN REMEMBRANCE

There is nothing but sentiment in the idea of the Ypres League. Yet it is a sentiment in which there is no falsity, no morbid touch, but something which belongs to the best pride of men, to the gladness they have in the courage that was theirs in frightful hours, or at least in the mastery they had over the fear that was in them, and their resistance to the misery, the beastliness of the fifth, the errors that were around them in those grim battlefields where death took a freakish choice of life.

I believe there is hardly a man in those hundreds of thousands who, in years to come, will not be glad to nod his head towards that framed certificate of honour and say, "You see, I served at Ypres!"—not in boastfulness, but in remembrance. I think, too, that the children of those who died in those fields will cherish that bit of paper as a proof of brave ancestry. I am one of those who can tell them that any man who went out through Ypres along the Menin Road, who sat in the dirty ditches of Hooge who helped in any way to get forward to the ridges up to Passchendaele, and defended by any service the last hold on the ruins of the city, passed the highest test of human courage.

There were other British battlefields where the test came. The fields of the Somme were the fighting grounds and the graveyards of thousands of gallant men. From St. Quentin to La Bassée across the Vimy Ridge, out beyond Arras, there is not a yard of earth that does not belong to the history of British valour, suffering, and sacrifice. Each hummock of ground was a landmark in this frightful epic of human strife. But the Ypres salient is especially the greatest battleground of the British race. All our divisions passed through the furnace there at one time or other. Not one of them escaped that ordeal, and by general consent it was the worst place of all.

NEW ARMIES' ORDEAL

It was worst of all in the early days of the war, when the Germans made their thrust towards Calais, and all we had of strength—which was not much—barred their way until the lines were thin and ragged, but still unbroken, in the first battle of Ypres and the second. It was the worst place when the New Armies came along and learnt their first lessons in the school of war, and were dogged by shell-fire. The enemy had all the good ground on the ridges above us. They had perfect observation of all we did, from the Wytschate Ridge and the Messines Ridge and Westhoek, and the Frezenberg. They had great gun power when we were weak in guns, and the New Army had to stand under fire, without "answering back," or with much artillery, and by day or night, as they marched up the roads to Ypres past Vlamertinghe, as their guns went up and their wagons, and their mules, shells followed them, met them and caught them and they were "fed up" with it all.

There were "fed up" with the stinking pits of Hooge, where they lay in water, lice-eaten, with the smell of death in their nostrils, with mine craters close to them. It was the worst place of all for many months—and for longer than that. Year after year the Ypres salient did not change its character very much. It was never really pleasant for British soldiers. It was not a "health resort" even after the capture of the Messines Ridge, when we knew how much the enemy had seen—and were "staggered" at the knowledge. It was less of a "health resort" when the battles of Flanders began in 1917. It was then one of the most dreadful plots of ground upon which the old moon had ever looked down since the beginning of the world.

VIA DOLOROSA

Hundreds of thousands of men wallowed through the swamps in enormous strife, under immense and all-destructive storms of high explosive. The solid earth became a liquid bog when the rains began and did not end. By Gloucester Wood and Inverness Copse wounded men fell and were drowned in the swamps, and I saw them lying there. The way to Passchendaele was a via dolorosa and the horror of it, the immense range of its misery and massacre, was only relieved and lightened by the wonderful patience, the most grim endurance, of those masses of British soldiers who in their masks of mud refused to surrender in their souls to the agony they endured. As I write these human pictures come back to me hauntingly, and I salute again the men who served in the Salient of Ypres, infantry and gunners, lorry drivers and stretcher-bearers, Air Force and tanks, machine gunners and trench-mortar men, the great heroic crowd.

There were other bad days and weeks and months, when the enemy was strong still in the last phase of the war which was touch-and-go for us. I remember seeing old Bailleul go up in flames and Kemmel captured, and all our old roads about Westoutre tapped out by shell-fire. The battalions of ours who were in the salient then stood between us and ruin. They were weak battalions, worn down to little groups of dazed and tired men, fighting all the time, snatching a little sleep, and waking up to fight again. It was a weak line—that curved round Ypres and its ramparts—but it was strong enough to save us all; and the ragged ruin of the Cloth Hall in Ypres is a pillar of victory gained by an immense sum of death now gathered into the graveyards where those comrades lie.

BROTHERHOOD OF ARMS

All our armies on the Western Front passed through Ypres. The Ypres League is the brotherhood of all ranks who served there. The annual reunions of officers and men belonging to the League which it is proposed to the League which it is proposed to hold would gather up locally the spirit of those five years of history.

No large fee is needed for membership. The subscription for one year is five shillings, and for life membership two pounds ten shillings. If the response is as great as expected the League will be a widespread fellowship without distinction of rank, from field-marshal to private soldier, and will have a vital influence in perpetuating great memories when in spite of the enormous tragedy of war the virtue of the common man was nobly revealed. The Ypres League will hold the remembrance of that. Its secretary is Major Marat, at the offices of the League, 23, Henrietta Street, Cavendish-square, London, W.

THE OLD "ATLANTIQUE"

IN PORT.

RENAMED THE "ANGKOR."

A "wounded veteran"—the old Atlantique—was in Hongkong harbour for a few hours on Saturday on her first trip after discharge from hospital where she has been under treatment for wounds sustained in the Great War. She is not only entirely cured but is actually better than before she was hit, for the dock surgeons have given her an entirely new and improved "inside" and "topside." She has also a new name—the Angkor.

A number of guests, including the French Consul-General, M. Reau, the Rev. Father Robert, the Director of Public Works (the Hon. Mr. T. L. Perkins) and representatives of other shipping companies and of the Press, accepted the invitation of M. Reau, the French Consul-General, to tea on the vessel on Saturday, when an opportunity was given of seeing the improvements made. A new deck has been added, and this without in any way interfering with the handsome lines of the vessel. The new deck provides a surprisingly large amount of accommodation, including two delightful lounges—one fore and one aft. The dining saloon is now a very spacious and handsome apartment and the cabins have been modernised and give ample space. The furnishings are of high quality. A piece of the torpedo that damaged the vessel has been mounted and is exhibited over a suitable inscription.

The vessel is manned by a French crew and the cooking is evidently done with the expertness for which the French nation is famous. Visitors on Saturday, after trying the French pastries and the delicately flavoured ice-cream, wished that the cook could be persuaded to hand on a few "wrinkles" to local caterers so that the monotony of restaurant tea might be somewhat relieved.

Mons. Rodenbuser, in a short speech, mentioned that the Atlantique was torpedoed off Bizerte in May, 1918; she was saved with much difficulty, the torpedo having made a hole 175 square metres in extent. However, the steamer managed to reach Bizerte and was temporarily repaired there. Afterwards she was reconstructed and brought up-to-date at La Ciotat, France. "Everything," in fact, was new except the hull.

PLATE GLASS WINDOW.

"Looking through my Toric lenses is like looking through a fine plate glass window," said an American lady, in the course of her remarks while in a tramcar the other day. She said just the right thing. It cost a bit more to build a plate glass window and it cost a bit more to make a pair of Toric lenses than the ordinary flat kind. Torics are more than worth the small difference in cost to you in the added comfort you derive from their use. Toric lenses of any prescription are manufactured by The Hongkong Optical Co., successors to Clark & Co., Manufacturing and Refracting Opticians, 53, Queen's Road, Central.

It was recorded recently in Lloyd's list that the Empress of Britain had won for the Canadian Pacific "the blue ribbon of the world" by doing the round trip from Liverpool to Quebec and back to Liverpool in 15 days, 9 hours and 59 minutes. Although this record as a matter of time occupied no longer stands, the Canadian Pacific still retains the honor associated with the fastest-run from Liverpool to Quebec and return.

The Empress of France, also of the Canadian Pacific fleet, performed the hitherto unparalleled achievement of steaming from Liverpool to Quebec and back in 15 days, 5 hours and 5 minutes. She left Liverpool at 4 o'clock in the afternoon of September 3rd, and arrived back at Liverpool at 10 o'clock on Friday night, September 9th. For both the west-bound and east-bound crossings her speed averaged over 18 knots.
